

DONKEY RUNS AFTER LION

Once upon a time, on the outskirts of a jungle there was a village.
There was a donkey & a cock grazing nearby.

A hungry lion emerged from the jungle & reached the village on the outskirts of the village.

Delicious fat donkey! I can have a great feast.

Contemplating on the donkey, the lion started to slowly approach from behind.

Sensing danger, the cock immediately shouting...

Hearing the loud noise of the cock the lion was taken by surprised and hence he retreated towards the forest.

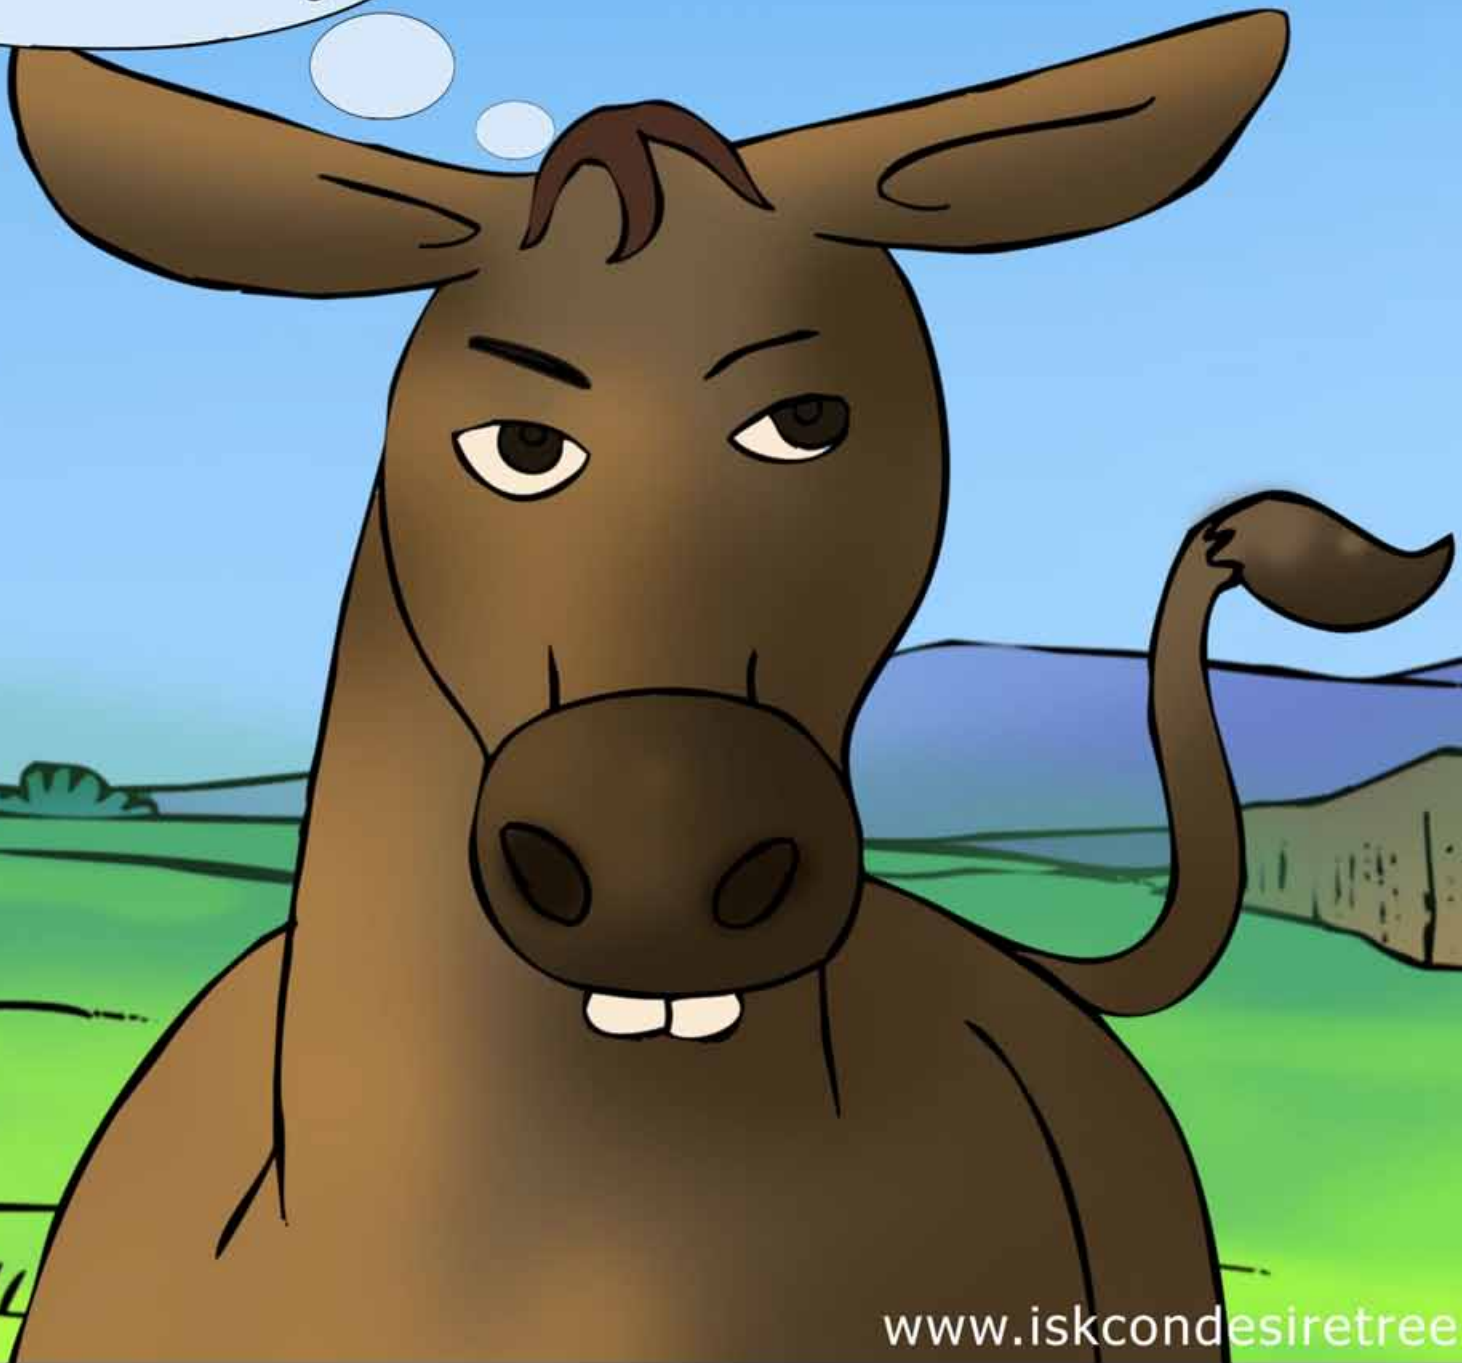

When the lion suddenly retreated, the donkey noticed it.

The lion ran back to the jungle because he is afraid of my strength & size.

I am stronger than lion.
I will teach him a lesson not to come back to this village.

Thinking in this way, the donkey started to run towards the lion.

You coward.
Why are you running away from me?

Oh! It is the fat donkey.
So stupid!

I am stronger than
you. Hence you are running away from me. Stop running and face my strength.

The lion pounced on the donkey and in a second killed him.

Foolish donkey!

MORAL :

The modern day scientist think they can control nature & they think that God does not exists. They do some experiments and they feel they have conquered the nature. However, at end death comes and smashes the pride of the scientist.